What gives us the passion and drive for climate protection? We developed 'Let's talk climate' to meet the yearnings of those who feel defeated, helpless and depressed about the topic of climate change. We believe this game is the stimulant they need to start that conversation and regain control, alone or in groups.

Every card is designed, through thought-provoking questioning, to stimulate the mind to reflect and recall memorable experiences about the environment. The game is a relationship builder with a purpose, and can be used by any group of two persons or more to motivate one another to explore issues and ideas on climate change, its consequences and what you can do personally to protect the climate.

We hope you enjoy it. So, go ahead and give it a go!
